

As you walk along the trail you will see how the earth's most important natural resources — soil, water, plants and animals — are dependent upon each other. Not one of the four can exist without the other three. Man himself cannot live with the four resources. His enjoyment of life and even his survival depend on his ability to understand and to use wisely these essential resources.

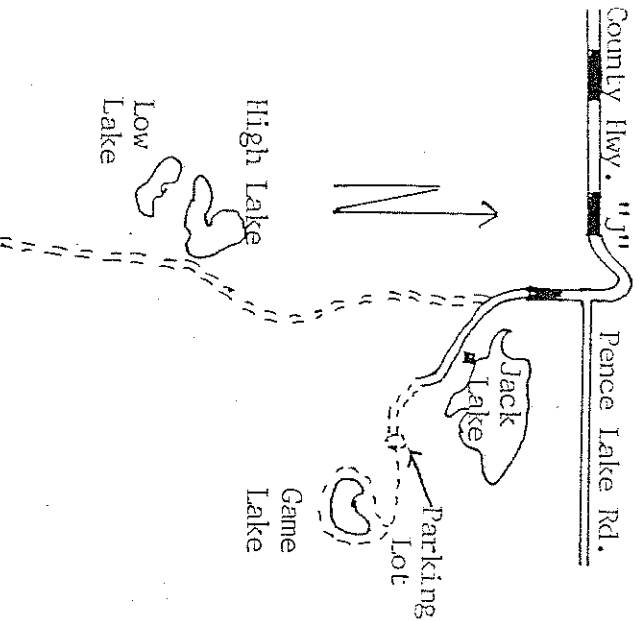

We hope that your interests will be aroused so that you will question more the things that man does to his environment before we no longer have natural areas such as this to enjoy.

Thank you for hiking on our nature trail. We trust you enjoyed yourself and will tell others about the great out-of-doors in Langlade County. We are attempting to preserve a quality environment and appreciate your assistance in helping us achieve it.
