WHERE TO HIKE

Take note: dogs are allowed on the Ice Age Trail and should be under control and leashed at all times.

LUMBERCAMP SEGMENT

(12 miles)

This segment brings hikers on a trek through Peters Marsh State Wildlife Area and through a forested outwash plain before coming to a dramatic exposure of boulders in the Baker Lake basin.

SUMMIT MORaine SEGMENT

(12.2 miles)

This segment traverses lowland bogs, hardwood forests, rolling skitrails, and Veterans Memorial Park. Keep an eye out for eskers and glacial drift stones as the segment wanders along glaciated and hummocky terrain.

PARRISH HILLS SEGMENT

(12 miles)

This segment darts along lakes and across river headwaters, offering high-relief views from the Parrish Terminal Moraine and diverse wetlands in the Bogus Swamp State Natural Area.

ICE OVERRIDE SEGMENT

(0.8 miles)

This segment traverses a 44.5-acre preserve, offering rolling hills and breathtaking views of mature woods and water features. The segment’s high-relief glacial terrain is what’s left behind after the Almond Moraine overrode the Hancock Moraine.

HIGHLAND SEGMENT

This segment darts along lakes, and across river headwaters, offering high-relief views from the Parrish Terminal Moraine and diverse wetlands in the Bogus Swamp State Natural Area.

ANTIGO HEIGHTS SEGMENT

(7.2 miles)

This brand-new segment in 2025 showcases crevasse fills on the National Park Service property—Mueller Lake. The ridged terrain formed when massive cracks in the glacier filled with stream-deposited gravel. As the ice melted and the crevasses collapsed, the gravel remained, creating the narrow ridges seen today. It also highlights the rolling hills on the Alliance-owned Moraine-Outwash Preserve displaying the dramatic boundary between the Almond Moraine and the vast outwash plain to the west, known as the Antigo Flats.

KETTLEBOWL SEGMENT

This rugged and isolated segment boasts tremendous views during leaf-off season as it follows forest lanes through hilly terrain dotted with huge granite erratics and kettles.
